

Water Intrusion and Mold Training for Property Managers

Water intrusion, mold and related indoor air quality issues can be emotional, complex, time consuming, and costly. How you respond can often make the difference between a small event and a major case involving health claims, regulatory enforcement and possible litigation.

Garden State Environmental, Inc. (GSE) is a well established Industrial Hygiene and Environmental Consulting Firm specializing in indoor air quality and related environmental issues. To assist you in effectively managing these issues, we are offering a complimentary training program for Property Managers. This educational presentation will help you understand:

- The facts, risks and myths about microbial contamination
- Identifying and preventing water intrusion and microbial growth
- Proven response strategies to avoid or defend against litigation
- Effective communication with Owners/Tenants/Boards
- How to avoid getting ripped off on remediation
- Managing the remediation process

This one to two hour program can be scheduled between 8:00 and 4:00 PM Monday through Friday. Incorporate into breakfast, lunch or staff meeting to maximize convenience.
